Welcome to the West Virginia State Thespian Festival 2012

WEST VIRGINIA STATE CAPITOL COMPLEX AND SURROUNDING AREA

West Virginia State Thespian Festival 2012

Welcome to the Culture Center!

For the next three days, you will find yourself in the midst of people who are all, like you, involved in and challenged by theater. Whether you are a writer, a performer or a stage designer, you play an important role in the arts in your school, your community and our state. I hope that while you are here you take advantage of every minute to learn more about your art and the other students who are here.

The West Virginia Division of Culture and History has a strong commitment to recognize and feature the arts, heritage and culture of our state and to showcase the fine artists, artisans and historians whose work makes a difference in West Virginia.

It is just as important that we provide new artists with a place where they can learn and grow. The energy at events like this one, our annual Dance Festival and the West Virginia State History Bowl speaks volumes for our future. Whether you go on to a professional career in theater, participate in community theater or find yourself an enthusiastic arts supporter, you will always make a difference in arts in West Virginia.

Enjoy the workshops and the performances. If you have time, please visit the West Virginia State Museum and enjoy the art exhibits throughout the Culture Center.

Sincerely,

Randall Reid-Smith, Commissioner
West Virginia Division of Culture and History

STEVEN BREWER

One-Act Judge

Steven Brewer has been the managing and artistic director for the Old Opera House Theatre Company in Charles Town, W.Va., since the summer of 2003. With a degree in theater performance from the State University of New York and a degree in English from Clemson University in Clemson, S.C., Brewer has directed nearly 100 plays over the past 35 years, from Accomplice and Anything Goes to Unnecessary Farce and White Christmas. He also, on occasion, steps on stage for roles like Father Brendan Flynn in Doubt, A Parable, and Herbie in Gypsy.

DR. JULIE JACKSON

One-Act and Scholarship Judge

Dr. Julie Jackson is chair of Marshall University's Department of Theatre in Huntington, W.Va., and worked as a professional theater designer in the Chicago area for more than 20 years. A graduate of the School of the Chicago Art Institute, Goodman School of Drama, Jackson has designed more than 170 professional productions. Before coming to Marshall she was a resident artist and full-time faculty member at Columbia College in Chicago for more than 15 years.

ONE-ACT JUDGES

BEN MARTIN

One-Act and Scholarship Judge

Ben Martin taught and directed educational theater in Missouri for 34 years before retiring in the spring of 2010. During his career, he won Outstanding Teacher of the Year awards from the Lee's Summit School District, The Speech and Theatre Association of Missouri and Missouri State Thespians. Over the years, his students have qualified to the state activities association tournament in every event with many finalists and champions, including the 2002 one-act play winner, Cut, which also swept all four acting awards. Martin continues to be an active advocate for school theater by serving on the board of the Educational Theatre Association. He also is serving his fourth term on the Missouri Thespians Board where he heads the scholarship program. He is a past state conference coordinator, workshops chair and presenter. He has directed a variety of productions featured at the state conference, including the 2001 All-State production of Tommy, and is a national adjudicator for the Educational Theatre Association. His newest venture is as president of a new community theater, Summit Theatre Group. He is directing the first production, Bus Stop, which is being done as an innovative cooperative venture in a local diner in the historic downtown area of Lee's Summit, Mo. He participates or has participated on the governing or advisory bodies for Kansas City Cappies, Blue Star Awards, The Kansas City Repertory Theatre, and The Heart of America Shakespeare Festival. He was chair of the Arts Council of Lee's Summit when it received the 2010 Missouri Arts Council Creative Community Award and continues to serve as a member.

JUDGES

LEAH A. CLAY

Stage Management Judge

Leah A. Clay is a special education teacher at Logan Middle School and vice president of the Appalachian Children's Theatre and Southern Coalition for the Arts in Logan, W.Va. Local past experiences include production stage management for The Aracoma Story, Inc. as well as numerous volunteer positions both on and off stage. Clay has spent the past decade traveling and working across the United States and Canada. Most recently, she was stage manager for Troika's Jesus Christ Superstar North American Tour. She received her bachelor's degree in theater – design/technology from Marshall University in Huntington, W.Va. Her stage management and technical experience involves such theaters as The Miracle Theatre, LaComedia Dinner Theatre, Trumpet in the Land and Florida Stage.

GAIL HAUGHT

Playwriting Judge

Gail Barone Haught began her theater career at the age of 4 in the ballet The Teddy Bears' Picnic. A serious student of the arts even then, she was mortified to hear the audience laughing at her, and vowed never to set foot on the stage again. She started writing and designing costumes during the seventh grade for a gothic vampire tale, and in 2004 she co-wrote and directed The Last Voyage of Destiny, a murder/mystery spoof of The Love Boat.

FRAN KIRK

Scholarship, Scenes and Puppetry Judge

Fran Kirk is an associate professor in the Department of Communication and Theatre Arts at Fairmont State University in Fairmont, W.Va., where she teaches puppetry, children's theater, creative drama, storytelling, and educational theater. Kirk has directed more than 50 productions in college, high school, and community theater, and facilitated the undergraduate research that culminated in the performance of Remembering No. 9: Stories of the Farmington Mine Disaster, a full-length play based on the ethnographic research related to the deadly 1968 disaster. Kirk has presented workshops for The Southeastern Theatre Conference and the American Alliance for Theatre and Education. Before coming to Fairmont State, Kirk taught in West Virginia schools and served as arts coordinator for the West Virginia Department of Education.

T. C. KOUYEAS

Lighting and Mask Judge

T. C. Kouyeas is a theater instructor at Frostburg State University in Frostburg, Md., and a theatrical set, lighting and sound designer who enjoys stage management, video/projection design and computer-assisted drafting as well as most things technical about theater. Kouyeas has designed and worked for Travesty Dance Group, Porthouse Theatre, Carousel Dinner Theatre, Cumberland Theatre, Great Lakes Theatre Festival, The John Scofield Band, The American College Dance Festival, Muncie Dinner Theatre, Verlezza Dance, Windwood Theatricals and the Convergence-Continuum Ensemble, Ping Chong and Company, The Source Theatre, The Cleveland Opera and national tours of The Nutcracker and Copacabana. Currently, he is the season lighting designer for Porthouse Theatre in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

JULIA LEE

Publicity Judge

Julia Lee taught high school theater for 29 years before serving as arts coordinator for the West Virginia Department of Education for 10 years. She was the West Virginia Thespians' director from 1986 to 1990 and was recognized as State Theatre Teacher of the Year for 2000. Lee wrote an article on publicity titled "Hey! Ya Wanna See a Show?!" for The Drama/Theatre Teacher, a national publication. She has presented numerous publicity and public relations workshops at the International Thespian Conference as well as at state thespian festivals in West Virginia, Iowa and Pennsylvania. She also has adjudicated publicity projects for West Virginia and Pennsylvania thespians.
